It doesn't take much wind to start the leaves of 'Regal Prince' waving, flapping back and forth from silver to dark green. It's quite a show. The leaves are also glossy and highly resistant to powdery mildew, unlike its parent, Q. robur fastigiata. Fall color is an uninteresting yellow or brown. 'Regal Prince' is drought tolerant, but it will withstand some flooding during the dormant season. Borers which will attack most Q. Robur varieties, don't seem interested in this tree. Best of all is the form of this plant; very upright, becoming a slender oval with age. In today's world of small lots and narrow parking strips, its habit makes this one of the most asked for Oaks in the trade. Robinson Nursery offers 'Regal Prince' in various sizes of bare root whips, branched trees, and #3 Grow Ready™ liners.
