Apple Serviceberry is a hybrid of Am. canadensis and Am. laevis. It makes a lovely multi-stem tree, small enough for back yards and under power lines.

Showy white flowers meet the early spring. Soon purplish new leaves turn to bright green. In fall the color is yellow to orange. The red fruit is edible by humans but the birds will beat you to it. Suckering is said to be reduced in this hybrid.

Robinson Nursery offers Amelanchier x grandiflora as bare root whips, branched and multi-stem trees.
