

Name That Bark

The new contest that gives you fabulous prizes for simply remembering what you know. So, can you name the bark of this two inch caliper tree?

If so, phone, fax or email the name to Cynda, at cynda@robinsonnursery.com. The winner will be drawn from all the correct answers received by Dec. 10.

This months prize: one bundle of 10 or two bundles of 5 of the trees of your choice.

Tree variety and size subject to availability; all prizes for the nursery; employees or family members not eligible; income tax, surtax, luxury tax, sales tax, inventory tax, value added tax, property tax, consumption tax, excise tax, tariffs, tolls, or transfer tax, inflation tax, and deflation tax are the responsibility of the winner.

F ALL HAS FALLEN (FELL ?)(TRIPPED ?)

FALL SPECIAL
Carpinus betulus 'Fastigiata'
1.25"
Regularly $27.30
Now $18.00
for a limited time only

You can hoot and holler all you want about some of the new selections of Maple, but for our money, Acer saccharum is still the best fall color tree. Nothing else pops out of the landscape like a Sugar. Urban tough, drought tolerant and hardy, this tree is a great choice for most situations.

Sugar Maple is also long lived. The Comfort Maple in Pelham, Ontario is thought to be 500 years old. It's 80' tall and has a 20' circumference at the base.

We grow seven varieties of Acer saccharum, offering a range of sizes and shapes. Hey, you can even tap them for sugar.

Rick is very pleased with this years Syringa 'Ivory Silk', left.

He's working on methods to produce a more fibrous root system, and as you can see, he's succeeding.

He is also very pleased with this years crop of Euonymus alatus 'Compactus'.

